

Location:

40 km south-west of Saskatoon within the northern boundary of the Pike Lake Provincial Park.

From Saskatoon take Highway #7 south-west, turn onto Highway #60 south. Enter Pike Lake Provincial Park, stopping at the park office (when open) to let them know you are heading to the Girl Guide Camp. Take the first left after the park office and follow the curved road to the end of the tennis courts. Turn left next to the tennis courts and follow the narrow dirt road up to the camp gate.

For more information, or to book your camp,

contact us –

via our website at www.saskatoongirlguides.ca
(Trefoil Trails Camp tab)

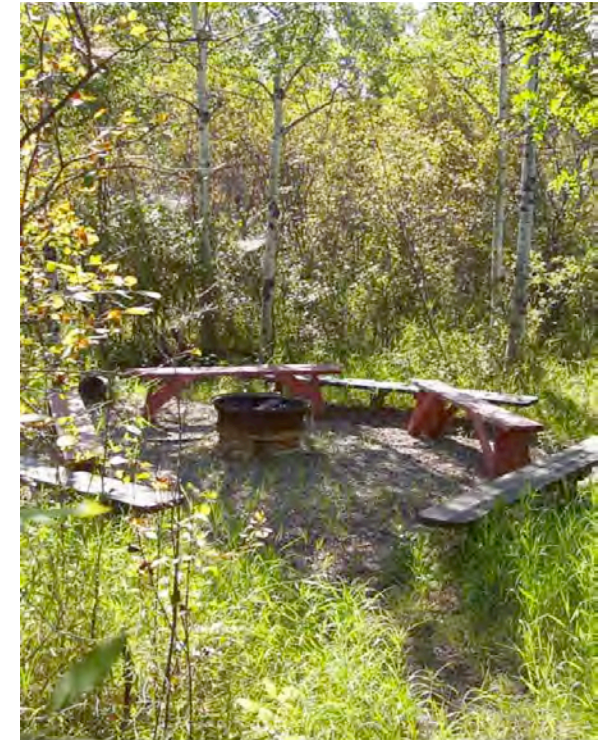

or through

Saskatoon Area Office
801 Preston Avenue
Saskatoon, SK S7H 2V1
(306) 652-3275
gguides.stoon@sasktel.net

Sponsored in part by:

TREFOIL TRAILS GIRL GUIDE CAMP

Girl Guides
of Canada
Guides
du Canada

Saskatoon Area Camp
Pike Lake Provincial Park

What does Trefoil Trails have to offer you?

Main Site:

The main lodge has a spacious kitchen and eating area with running water (in the summer only), two electric stoves and a fridge, freezer, dryer and microwave.

A smaller kitchen off the main lodge also has an eating area with a fridge, stove and running water.

Both kitchens are fully stocked with almost everything that your unit might need, minus the food.

A spacious lounge at the front of the lodge includes a fireplace, perfect for holding campfires on those cold winter nights.

Two fire pits are located in the forest and provide girls a chance to meet the Pixies and Gnomes that reside at Trefoil Trails.

Pixie Glen:

Three cabins, which each sleep eight, are open from early May until early October. The cabins are not heated and do not have mattresses, but they are a great introduction to camping for younger or less experienced campers.

Nyeri:

This site has a spacious field area to accommodate your tents. A large campfire pit, with benches, is in the center of the field - see second photo below.

A covered shelter with picnic tables provides space for meals and crafts. The electrified pantry area contains a fridge and outdoor cooking equipment. A large outdoor wood burning barrel is used for cooking. The site also has its own water tap and flagpole. Other buildings on the site include a storage garage, wood shed and latrines. This site comfortably accommodates 30 campers.

Pathways:

This 'wilderness' campsite is perfect for more adventurous girls. A covered shelter with picnic tables is used for food preparation and eating.

Small and large cooking areas provide opportunity for cooking in patrols or as a unit.

This site also has a small storage shed, latrines, a campfire pit, a water tap, a flagpole and access to a fridge in the Nyeri garage.

Other Features:

Trefoil also has a number of smaller, self-contained sites. These are designed for small groups and would be ideal for a Pathfinder Gold camp.

The camp is honeycombed with trails that take advantage of the hilly terrain with its cool aspen groves and dry meadow. It is not unusual to be able to follow the path of a white tailed deer or a jack rabbit through the woods.

A beach outside the camp boundaries provides a place for pond dipping and canoeing. The pool, located within the Provincial Park, offers a great place to cool off during hot summer days.

The "Circle of Peace" located near the camp's northern boundary can be used for ceremonies such as Guides' Own.

All campers have year round access to wiener roasting sticks and bush pie makers. In the winter we bring out the snowshoes, sloosh skis and broomball equipment.

Within the Provincial Park there is a nature trail that provides a stimulating look at the diverse eco-systems that exist on our Saskatchewan Prairie. A small nature museum and pond dipping equipment also provide great opportunities for learning.

Cabin tents of bygone days